Ginger & Jagger launches five new designs at Salone del Mobile

In a Nature inspired design “Atmospheres” showcase.

Fossil | Console

PORTO, Portugal | April 2024 | Ginger & Jagger's inspiration in Nature for its handcrafted contemporary design is entirely manifested in the new designs launched – two consoles, a dining table, lighting and a new mirror, all drawing from land formations, fossils and minerals – at Salone del Mobile Milano, Hall 14 Stand B32, 16-21 of April.

The Geode Console is reminiscent of deep ridges and mineral formations. Sculptural and geometric by design, the earth-like natural variation of the materials of the sections make each design unique, threading the needle between function and art. Still in the casegoods segment, the new Fossil Console is a tribute to the natural mechanism of the Earth where geological mementos of the cycles of life are formed with the passing of millennia. The Fossil is marked by layered features and coalescence of materials, creating an organized atmosphere while standing in a remarkable balance as a standalone statement piece, or next to a wall.

Designed to be the protagonist of a space, the Peninsula is a functional oval top dining table. Boldly proportioned, the design is different depending on the point of view, creating a conversation between different materials. Seating six people, the Peninsula is a sculptural presence where life is to be celebrated and experienced in communion.

Drawing inspiration from small uninhabited islands that remain in their primal state is the Islet Mirror. Conceived with a delicate composition of elements in succession, in a dialogue of marble, metal and lacquer, the shapes that surrounds the subject are reflected within. The Strata Coffee Table evokes the layers of rock and sediment that form in the earth with the passing of time. The three separate tables form an ensemble that can be set in different angles and positions, creating a soothing presence. Crafted from a wide range of materials, the Strata can convey different feelings, much like the Earth's surfaces - rougher when in travertine, or smoother when in wood veneer.

Ginger & Jagger's Creative Director and Founder, Paula Sousa, describes this new wave of designs as a fruit of research and passion: “Nature is in our essence, we are beings from Nature and we are a part of its cycles. The vision to create objects that celebrate and make eternal the elements, natural mechanisms, inheriting its innate beauty is the ethos of the brand, through handcraft and artisanal work”. While the brand has been expanding its collection, its focus remains on sustainability. The made to order approach, alongside multiple internal initiatives, are part of its commitment to diminish its carbon footprint and impact. Ginger & Jagger's endeavours are developed in deep coordination with the artisan ateliers that handcraft the products.

Ginger & Jagger is exhibiting alongside Munna at Salone del Mobile Milano, Hall 14 Stand B32, 16-21 of April.

Islet | Mirror

Islet | Metal Mirror

Islet | Marble Mirror

The Islet Mirror draws inspiration from small uninhabited islands, that remain in their primal state, only exposed to the elements. The Islet Mirror has a delicate composition of elements in succession, in a dialogue of marble, metal and lacquer, and shapes that surrounds the subject, reflected within. The Islet creates a tranquil dynamic for living spaces. Also available in single material version.
